DIED BY HER OWN HAND.

Mrs. Anna Wyllie, Living East of the City, Shoots Herself.

FAMILY TROUBLES WORRIED HER

And Doubtless Unbalanced her Mind. Her Husband and a Son Died Recently—She Leaves Four Children, all Grown up.

About 11 o'clock yesterday forenoon Mrs. Anna Wyllie, widow of William Wyllie, who lived in a one-story brick house on the hillside opposite the Thompson place, on the National road, shot herself through the left breast near the heart, inflicting a wound from which she died at about 1 o'clock. Mrs. Wyllie was about forty-six years of age. Her husband died about a year ago, leaving her with six children. She became very despondent then, and fears were entertained that she would lose her mind, but she seemed to rally and become cheerful, when last winter her eldest son also died. This again made her very despondent, and her two sons and two daughters, who survive, have feared some outcome like that of yesterday, and have watched her closely. Yesterday, however, she happened to be left alone in the house for awhile, and members of the family who were in the garden near heard the shot and hastened in. She was found lying on the floor with a revolver smoking in her hand and a hole in her breast.

Both Mr. Wyllie's and his son's deaths were caused by typhoid fever. It was found on examination that a drain pipe into which the sewage from the premises ran had leaked and the poisonous stuff had seeped into the well from which the family drinking water was drawn. At the same time that the son died the two daughters also had severe attacks of the same disease, but recovered.

The revolver with which the poor woman took her life was bought recently by one of her sons, on account of the frequent visits of burglars to houses in that section. Mrs. Wyllie was seen to handle it once or twice, and her children, becoming uneasy, drew all the cartridges from the weapon. They supposed this would prevent her doing herself any injury, but she evidently found the cartridges and replaced them in the pistol while nobody was watching her.

Rev. Father Moya was called and spent the last hour with her. Coroner Schultze was notified of her death and went out and made an inquiry, returning a verdict of death by suicide.

MAY BE ANOTHER CAUCUS.

One Feature of the Result of Wednesday Night's Meeting Not Popular.

It was not very long after the Republican caucus of Wednesday evening had adjourned until members of the council majority began to receive earnest protests against the nomination of Mr. Julius Pollock as the Democratic member of the board. It was pointed out that Mr. Pollock was not only an offensive partisan in the most objectionable sense, but that in his campaign against Hon. N. E. Whitaker for state senator he had gone out of his way to do things which the friends of Mr. Whitaker considered mean. The feeling was such as to lead many Republican members of council to regret that the choice had fallen to Mr. Pollock, and yesterday several of the leading ones broached a proposition to hold another caucus to name a different Democratic nominee.

Though no formal call was circulated, and no systematic effort made to see all the members as yet, it was announced that over half of the Republican members had informally approved the calling of another caucus.

Another paper said yesterday that in the caucus the night before Mr. H. H. Dunlevy only received one vote as the Democratic member. This was a very wild guess. It is stated as a matter of fact that Mr. Dunlevy had fourteen votes, within four of enough to make him the caucus nominee.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURTS.

A Number of Cases in the Two Parts of This Tribunal.

Yesterday afternoon in Judge Campbell's side of the circuit court an interesting case was called, the title being John West vs. House & Herrmann. West claims $20,000 damages for false imprisonment. The jury was impaneled and sworn, and court then adjourned until half past nine this morning. The case grows out of a charge brought against West of moving goods and chattels out of the state when they were covered by a chattel mortgage. He was locked up at St. Clairsville and afterwards discharged and soon after brought this suit. The case is regarded with interest because of the technical questions involved.

In Judge Paul's court yesterday the case of the Chicago Arc Light Company vs. the Standard Insurance Company was still in progress.

In Judge Campbell's court the trial of the case of C. A. Schaefer vs. Laura Rice was finished and given to the jury, which shortly returned a verdict for plaintiff of $45.44.

In Judge Campbell's court a decree was entered confirming the sale of real estate in the chancery cause of Samuel J. Campbell et al. vs. James B. Campbell et al.

An order of reference was made by Judge Paul in the case of L. S. Dolapine's administrator vs. E. E. Zane et al.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Of a sermon by Dr. Russell A. McKinley. Accepts a Call—He Will Take Hold Immediately.

Dr. Russell A. McKinley, of Clearfield, Pa., a cousin of Governor McKinley, has accepted a call to the First Presbyterian church of Stouffville. Dr. McKinley has been in Clearfield for ten years. He is a man of high standing and a pulpit orator of unusual power. He is about forty-six years of age and resembles the governor in personal appearance. The vacancy in the Stouffville pastorate has existed since the death of Rev. Dr. Orlando V. Stewart, last spring. Dr. McKinley resigned his Clearfield pulpit last Sunday and goes at once to Stouffville. His letter of acceptance will probably be received to-day.

A VERY HEAVY RAIN

Fell Yesterday Morning, But Was Too Dashing to do Much Good.

About 5 o'clock yesterday morning one of the heaviest rains of the season fell for a short time. It was most too dashing to penetrate the ground, however, and washed all the loose surface of the hillsides down upon the level streets of the city. The rain was accompanied by a veritable gale of wind, but so far as was learned no harm was done. There was almost constant and very vivid lightning, but it was distant and all the thunder was a mere rumble long after the flash.

The work of laying new sewers and pavements was somewhat interfered with. The sewer ditches were quickly filled with water and mud, and sand and gravel laid for the new paving was demoralized by the drenching down-pour and the torrents that ran from the hills. The streams were not much affected, apparently, though the government rain gauge at Schenck's indicated that 45 of an inch of water fell. The signal flag predicts clear and cooler for to-day.
